FURTHER ON INTERNATIONAL POPULATION CONFERENCE

Population Growth Discussed

OW091352 Beijing XINHUA in English 1316 GMT 9 Aug 84

[Excerpts] Mexico City, August 8 (XINHUA) -- Representatives from Asian countries have stressed the need to control the rapid population growth in the general debate of the international conference on population in Mexico City. Though by far the largest population is found in Asia, which had an estimated 2.8 billion out of 4.7 billion of the world population in 1983, there has been a downward trend in Asian population growth rates since about the mid-1960's. The 1983 rate reached a moderate level, in world terms, of about 2 percent, the lowest rate among the developing regions. U.S. chief representative James Buckley sang at the conference a tune absolutely different from that of almost all other participants, asserting: There was no need for a country, even with few natural resources, to worry about its "major increases in population," so long as it "places its reliance on the creativity of private individuals working within a free economy." Buckley calimed that the United States did not allow its population assistance contribution to be used "to finance or promote abortion," adding: "The United States does not consider abortion an acceptable element of family planning program."

PRC Rejects 'Interference'

OW100811 Beijing XINHUA in English 0648 GMT 10 Aug 84

[Text] Mexico City, August 9 (XINHUA) -- Shen Guoxiang, spokesman of the Chinese delegation to the international conference on population, said here today the United States is trying to impose its choice of running the economy on others. The criticism came after U.S. delegation head James Buckley's attack on the planned economy of some developing countries. Buckley reaffirmed that the United States does not allow its population assistance contribution to be used to finance or promote abortion. Asked at a press conference to comment on the U.S. statement, Shen Guoxiang said although China's policies and principles on population and development have been successful, she has no intention to impose her own position, ideas and experience on other countries. However, he added, "We are not prepared to be imposed of other's choices of running the economy." "This is a question which concerns a country's social and economic system and fundamental sovereignty," the Chinese spokesman said. Shen said international support and assistance are always mutually beneficial. Every country should spare no effort in making due contributions to the international community. "Giving assistance to other countries as a bestowal of favor, or even attempting to use the financial support as a means to influence and to change other countries' policies, is not a genuine support, and we could not possibly agree," he said. In solving the population problem, Shen said China consistently maintains the principle of self-reliance and at the same time, is also concerned about developing international friendly cooperation. He said "We are willing to strengthen mutual support and cooperation with other countries on the principle of mutual respect for sovereignty, non-interference in internal affairs, equality and mutual benefit."

He added that China has good relations of cooperation with the United Nations Fund for Population Activities, the Department of Technical Cooperation for Development and the Department of International Economic and Social Affairs and has received from them assistance and support in various forms. But, he said, "not a single cent of the financial support, including that from the International Planned Parenthood Federation, is spent on supporting abortion."

On the allegation that the United Nations fund for population activities is providing funds to China for abortion, the Chinese spokesman said, "This is totally groundless." He said China has constantly adhered to the principle of taking contraception as the main method for family planning. "Abortion is permitted in case of contraceptive failure, because this is the right of women," he said.

BEIJING COMPLETES FOUR JOINT-VENTURE HOTELS

OW131028 Beijing XINHUA in English 0951 GMT 13 Aug 84

[Text] Beijing, August 13 (XINHUA) -- Beijing will be capable of accommodating an extra 230,000 tourists a year with the completion of the fourth in a series of luxury hotels built with a total foreign investment of 240 million U.S. dollars, according to the Beijing Tourism Bureau today. The four hotels are the Yanxiang Hotel near the international airport, the Jianguo Hotel east of the International Club, the Great Wall Hotel near the foreign embassy block, and the Jinglun (Beijing-Toronto) Hotel beside Jianguo Hotel.

The first three have opened one after the other since late 1980. The last one is scheduled to go into operation later this month. The four hotels, with a total of more than 3,000 rooms and a floor space of 283,000 square meters, have greatly improved the accommodation for tourists, the bureau said.

The Yanxiang and the Great Wall Hotels were joint ventures between the municipal Tourism Bureau and American firms, the Jianguo Hotel with a Hong Kong company, and the Jinglun Hotel with Nobel Chong Associates Company of Canada. The international cooperation was carried out under the principles of equality and mutual benefit through friendly consultations and in varied forms, the bureau said, and proved successful.

The Jianguo Hotel, which went into business in April, 1982, has so far received nearly 400,000 tourists and earned more than 20 million U.S. dollars in profits. The newly-built Jinglun Hotel has a total investment of 24 million U.S. dollars. Some of the rooms will be used by the Canadian company for 11 years as a form of payment of the investment and interest. The Yanxiang Hotel, a joint venture between the Beijing branch of the China International Travel Service and Express United Company of the U.S., has hosted more than 200,000 overseas tourists and gained some three million U.S. dollars. Now all its assets, rights and interests are owned by the Chinese side.

With a total investment of 75 million U.S. dollars, the Great Wall Hotel is the biggest joint venture between Chinese and U.S. companies.

PRC DELEGATES ADDRESS POPULATION CONFERENCE

OW161752 Beijing XINHUA in English 1506 GMT 16 Aug 84

[Text] Mexico City, August 15 (XINHUA) -- Two hundred parliamentarians from 71 countries met to discuss population and development here today. The international parliamentarians' conference on population and development follows the week-long U.N. International Conference on Population which ended here yesterday. Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid attended the opening ceremony of the two-day conference.

Qian Xianzhong, head of the Chinese National People's Congress delegation, told the conference that in China, the world's most populous country, population control would not only help economic development and improve living standards, social stability and ecological balance, but also influence the population and development of the world. Qian was awarded the U.N. population prize in 1983. Qian said "family planning is a basic national policy of our state. We will endeavor to accomplish our work in all spheres better, more thoroughly and more meticulously." Two other Chinese parliamentarians, Xu Dixin and Hu Dehua, spoke on socio-economic development and population and on women's position and population control in China.

Former Japanese Prime Minister Takeo Fukuda said that it was not enough to rely on government efforts to solve the population problem, parliamentarians should coordinate actively with their governments to bring population growth into line with development. Fukuda is president of the World Parliamentarians' Council on Population and Development and honorary president of the current conference. President of the Permanent Commission of the Mexican Union Congress Humberto Lugo Gil called on all the governments in the world to adopt a principle of narrowing the bridge between the poor and the rich so as to guarantee peace, development and people's benefits.

The conference is organized by the World Parliamentarians' Council on Population and Development as a supplement to the U.N. population conference. The World Parliamentarians' Council on Population and Development was established in 1982 with the aim of providing parliamentarians with a forum to study the population and development problem, promote the exchange of views on population and development policy and planning, and offer financial assistance to exchange activities on population.

U.S. RETAILERS FILE SUIT AGAINST TEXTILE RULES

OW301958 Beijing XINHUA in English 1946 GMT 30 Aug 84

[Text] Washington, August 30 (XINHUA) -- A group of American retailers yesterday filed a lawsuit to the Court of International Trade in New York, asking it to stop the Reagan administration from going ahead with the new regulations on textile imports, WASHINGTON POST reported today.

The suit, filed on behalf of 16 retail organizations and three trade associations, charged that the new regulations violate the multifiber agreement (MFA) which governs textile trade around the world. "The regulations do not carry out the MFA and the various bilateral trade agreements but, to the contrary, violate them," it said. It also noted that the new regulations violate "required administrative procedures" and are "arbitrary, capricious, and abuse of discretion and otherwise contrary to law."

Meanwhile, a bipartisan group of 15 senators, including 10 Republicans, yesterday also urged the Reagan administration to scrap the new rules. They warned that implementation of the regulations as scheduled would have a "profound impact on U.S. agricultural and forest product exports to the Far East for years to come." The letter to Reagan is the second one sent this month by U.S. senators. No response was made by the White House to the first letter sent August 10.

The new rules on U.S. textile imports were issued by the Reagan administration on August 3. They stipulate that textile exporters are subject to the inspection by the U.S. Customs Service on the country of origin of their goods and no transshipment is allowed to fill unused quotas of certain countries. Under strong protest and criticism at home and abroad, the administration last week agreed to "limited exception" to the new rules and agreed to delay their enforcement until October 31 for shipments ordered prior to August 3. The rules were originally scheduled to take effect on September 7.

RENMIN RIBAO ON CHANGES IN U.S. OIL IMPORTS

HK301220 Beijing RENMIN RIBAO in Chinese 29 Aug 84 p 7

[Article by Bi Xi: "Changes in the Structure of U.S. Oil Imports"]

[Text] The United States is one of the leading oil producers in the world. Last year its oil output reached 486.7 million tons, ranking second in the world only after the Soviet Union. At the same time it is also the largest oil importer in the world. Since the outbreak of the second oil crisis between 1979 and 1980, great changes have occurred in the quantity and origins of U.S. oil imports.

The peak period for U.S. oil imports was 1977. That year the total imported oil amounted to as high as 8.8 million barrels a day and imported oil accounted for 47.7 percent of total domestic consumption. By last year oil imports had dropped sharply to 4.98 million barrels a day, which marked the lowest level since 1972, and imported oil accounted for only 31.9 percent of domestic consumption. It is expected that oil imports this year will begin to rebound after the reductions for four consecutive years. According to reports by the American OIL DAILY, U.S. oil imports this year are expected to increase by 7.3 percent and reach 5.345 million barrels a day.
